

Separated support, then replay-based responsibility

Different-looking branches may still share a hidden dependency.

Separation is checked under declared thresholds; it is not unconditional statistical independence.